Industrial Commission Chairman Brown Piqued At Us Labor Dept's Palliative

"After carefully projecting the needs of Florida farmers for labor, checking availability of local domestic supply, and receiving reports for courses of inter-state migratory labor Florida Industrial Commission Chairman Brown" was asked for said, 12,000 off-shore hands, but were summarily cut to 11,200."

"Even urgent requests to give reasons and logic behind this policy," he said, "are summarily brushed aside." "The Commission continued."

"We have determined that the need of Florida and other states for labor is a serious problem. It is a problem that cannot be solved by a leasing of the local labor supply for agriculture, but other states report a lack in availability of workers from their respective locations. There and we will continue to be a shortage of domestic agricultural workers."

Mr. Anderson of the Fla. Fruit and Vegetable Committee warned the group that forces are being a plan -- a long-time plan -- that will bring no good to the farmer's labor problems. "We must pull together," the labor expert said, "if we're to overcome the tremendous power of these organizations."

Other speakers appealed to the farmers to cooperate with the local employment agencies in an effort to "keep labor out of the state, and to get it to the best advantage, after it gets here." Allowing the loss of a day several times the work when a neighbor could use the men was pointed out as not a way of labor most advantageously.

It was pointed out that Senator Harrison Williams who is an ardent supporter of legislation relating to agriculture labor's housing, wages, retirement and fringe benefits, said, after making a close study through out the country, including the Glades, says "this area is the most progressive in the country."

However, repeated warning was given of the necessity for farmers to be on their toes with regard to securing and keeping labor.

Mr. Brown and aides addressed a gathering of more than 100 persons at a meeting held at the Lake area Monday night at the Belle Glade Community Building.

The meeting at Belle Glade is one of a series by the Industrial Commission to move the folks, look them in the eye and find out first-hand what their troubles are," according to the Chairman.

Belle Glade won the toss but couldn't get enough for a first down and Mills kicked the field goal to the Clewiston 30. Clewiston marched 70 yards with Ron Harvey Sheller, 44 lb. Steeler, fullback, passing 15 yards to Wayne Beardsley for the touch-down. The PAT attempt was wide.

Belle Glade received but moving to their 45, they lost the first of four run-ins. Robinson, Dial and Williams combined to score Clewiston's second touchdown of the first quarter. The kick was good and Rams trailed 13-0 at the end of the first quarter.

The Rams offense came to life the second quarter. Standing on their own five yard line, they held but lost the ball on a 48 yards in three plays but a fumble kicked the drive.

After the half Belle Glade moved 62 yards in seven plays with Kenny Martin, Frank Kruse, and Bobby Strating leading it down to the Clewiston four yard line. DeWight Ward got off tackle on the option for the score. Roman's kick was good and Belle Glade trailed 13-7.

The Rams were forced to dig in before they could stop a Clewiston drive on their three. They held but lost the ball on a fumble. Clewiston scored from the three in three plays.

Johnny Bass got loose on a punt return of 63 yards that was a beauty. He got two fine blocks from Gary Clark and

Due to the murky condition and lack of visibility CAP planes from Clewiston were unable to find the couple Saturday afternoon, nor on Sunday, for foot-and-boarder meet and pull a 20-foot boat with two boys aged nine and twelve, son of Sam Joyner, aboard as observers, and assistant deck hands.

The fuel line broke in the heavy water, and the drifting boat and barge were at the mercy of the continually rising waves of the shallow water.

A conservation agent reportedly came alongside during the afternoon to pick up the youngsters, while the Dupree continued with the founding vessel.

Conditions were unfavorable for any small boat to set out in search all day Sunday.

However, the Clewiston Mayor Haven CAP began again early Monday morning and sighted the boat and marked it for rescue.

Sometime during the night the barge sank, but the small boat floated and was washed southward to a point near Lake Harbor.

Father and son Dupree were reportedly in "very good condition" considering the experiences.

Deputy Frank Roselle of the Sheriff's Glades office reported that larger planes, including the Sheriff's and an Army plane, were ready Monday morning to join the hunt.

CAP Finds Father And Son After 40-Hour Lake Battle

The Clewiston and Moore Haven CAP discovered the barge containing Richard Dupree of Okeechobee and his son Dick, Jr. Monday morning around six o'clock near the southeast corner of Ritta Island, and sent a crash crew to bring back the hungry and exhausted couple to shore.

Approximately three o'clock Saturday afternoon the Dupree started across the Lake from the St. Lucie Locks with the 20-foot boat containing the boys aged nine and twelve, son of Sam Joyner, aboard as observers, and assistant deck hands.

Corn, Celery, Mixed-Cars Items Ready For Repeated Volume Producers Here

Corn, celery and mixed cars of produce carry the heavy end of numbers of carlot equivalents moved, as well as money producers around Lake Okeechobee, and they're on the plus side in acreage planted and reported expected yield.

The USDA reports that there are 7,165 acres of fall corn planted around the Lake. Some of the worry of how many acres to be harvested and the rate of yield.

Realists who see no good in any progressive step except legislation eliminating competition would do well to wear out some shoe leather finding out what's going on, rather than say "There are more beans planted around the Lake than in recent years" is the common report from packing house operators and brokers.

Leaf crops will be in plentiful supply according to a detailed check. "We had too much leaf last year -- twice as much as could be sold and the market is that there will be as much as the market will take in the northward direction."

"Radish plantings indicate there will be more volume offered this fall than heretofore," says one oldtimer from Ohio.

Fall potatoes plantings are reported for approximately the same number of carlots of seed as they did last fall -- 1,500.

HOW CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEALS

WBSN Sundays 8:00 a. c.

12:45 p. m.

Pray at all times in the Spirit, with all prayer and supplication.

To that end keep alert with all perseverance, making supplication for all the saints.

Now that I am facing life far away from home and family, I remember nostalgically the good times I had in a boarding school.

Every Thursday afternoon as we ran and played under a magnificent blue-flowering tree in the courtyard of the school, we were interrupted at 5:45 o'clock by the tones of the familiar bell.

At once we thought, "It's time for vespers," and our hearts were filled with joy.

We sat down on the ground, which was carpeted with lovely green grass. There we uttered our beloved school principal, we had our service of thanksgiving to God.

Ever since, at that hour of the day, I have had a moment of communion with God in prayer. Thus I find that my work, my everyday problems, my worries and cares are made lighter. I feel my heart relieved and strengthened by blessings from heaven.

PRAYER: Father, creator of our lives, strengthen our desire to commune with Thee. Prepare our hearts for an encounter with Thee. Forgive us our sins and deliver us from evil. Preserve our souls from death. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

One Day Institutes Slated on Church And The Senior Citizen

A series of three One Day Institutes on the Church and the Senior Citizen will be conducted by the General Extension Division of the Florida Council of Churches and locally sponsored by Ministerial Association and churches.

The first institute will be conducted at Boca Raton at the First Methodist Church October 31 beginning at 9 a. m., the second at Ft. Meade, Fla., and the third at Crystal Beach, Fla.

The institutes are held on a non-denominational and interfaith basis and are designed to assist clergymen and other church and community workers responsible for developing programs and activities for older adults.

An increase in interest in program of this nature is developing, and since more and more older people are coming to Florida, it is imperative that church and community leaders be given the opportunity to meet the needs of these citizens.

Among the leaders participating in the institutes are: Minister and church leader, Dr. A. Barnett, who for many years has lectured to church and community groups concerning the need for developing church and community activities.

There will be no services on Saturday Evening and Sunday Morning. Services will begin at 8:45 p. m. with Sunday School and services will continue throughout the day.

Everyone in the surrounding communities are welcome to attend and hear this message of God's love and the Hymns of the Christian Faith. Plan now to attend.

Young Peoples of the church and community receiving special recognition and interest in program of this nature is developing, and since more and more older people are coming to Florida, it is imperative that church and community leaders be given the opportunity to meet the needs of these citizens.

"A Declaration of American Principles"

GRAND LODGE

Benevolent and Protective
ORDER OF ELKS

Attested By
WM. A. WALL
Grand Exalted Ruler

Knowing that one of the principal tenets of the Elks is Americanism, and that officially each Lodge is instructed to appropriately advance this tenet during each year, we feel that Grand Exalted Ruler W. A. Wall, a Palm Beach County resident and a frequent visitor to the local Lodge, deserves support in his inaugural pronouncement of "America is on Guard."

We, therefore, on this Declaration, call upon you as a reminder to all Americans that we must be "ON GUARD."

1. Moral values are the basis of our society and the responsibility of each citizen to live by these moral values is fundamental to the welfare and progress of our society. These moral values include honesty of word, deed and purpose; brotherly love that requires us to be faithful to our fellow men and women in all our relations with them; faithful performance of our labor in every honorable calling; and a recognition that each of us has advancement of the general welfare.

2. Freedom has made America. Not just political freedom, but the whole environment of freedom is responsible for the tremendous progress of our Nation since its revolutionary birth in 1776. Freedom encourages initiative, experiment, invention, enterprise. Freedom lets citizens choose their work, encourages individuals to discover their talents and make the most of them. In consequence, we have a standard of living higher than any Nation has enjoyed a material abundance more widely shared among all our people than ever before, and a high level of intellectual and cultural attainment. Every citizen is the beneficiary of the freedom that has unleashed the abilities of the American people and provided the incentive for their maximum use.

3. Inherent in the American concept of freedom is the integrity of the individual. Individualism makes each person primarily responsible for himself, his welfare, his success or failure. Freedom lays upon each person the individual responsibility and duty of citizenship. A free society will emphasize individualism and individual responsibility as the sure way to produce democratic leadership and preserve freedom.

4. Self-government presupposes the duty of every citizen to obey the established government, and to employ only those lawful methods of reason and persuasion that are open to all of us to achieve political action. It follows that government by the majority must be reasonable in the exercise of its authority and protect the rights and interest of the minority.

5. Our ability to change our institutions and practices through orderly process of law, to accommodate to changing needs, has helped our Nation to develop, as it will in the future. All proposals for change in our institutions should be weighed carefully by all citizens to determine whether such change will reduce or add to our freedom. Our goal is more freedom, not less. We must guard against the growth of governmental power through surrender of civil right and individual freedom for contemporary gain at the expense of future generations.

6. The tendency of groups to seek preferential treatment from government breeds rivalries dangerous to political stability is harmful to genuine economic growth and leads to fragmentation of society rather than to unity and strength. All groups of citizens ought to insure political and economic proposals advanced in their own interest against their effect on the whole Nation.

7. We believe that the time has come when all citizens who believe in these principles should speak up for them and set an example by applying them fully in their daily lives. We urge those in positions of leadership and influence — clergymen, educators, business executives, holders of public office, leaders of labor, intellectuals, editors and television producers, motion picture producers and all other — to assume a greater responsibility for the wider understanding of these principles and their practical application in the day to day lives of the people.

Agro-Industry — the manufacture of agricultural products into usable form. It is in this instance, the fabrication in a Sugar House of sugar from cane in the area of growing fields.

Engineer Ballie is shown with workman directing the intricacies of assembling the mill in a stage of the erection of the Florida Sugar Company's 1,600-ton daily capacity house, eleven miles east of Belle Glade.

Flowering cane, in the background, which is a maturity common to the Glades, enables the continuing research and cross-breeding at the Government Station in Canal Point, the Everglades Experiment Station at Belle Glade, and effective work done by Dr. Bourne for U. S. Sugar. The production of new disease and insect resistant varieties in the Glades is important in Louisiana and Florida's present-day positions in cane sugar production.

We know the Gladelands are an Empire — It is costing in the neighborhood of ten millions to produce the Nation's most diversified Agricultural Empire in the production of table necessities — vegetables, beef and sugar — We under the impression that the Gladelands around Lake Okechobee are normally constituted parts of Florida's political subdivisions.

HOWEVER: Recent press releases from the Florida Development Commission, in reporting "new industrial plants and expansions in Florida," fail to recognize land use, manufacturing floor-space, dollars invested, numbers employed and annual wage and salary increment and profit to farmers, as well as rounding out permanent economic stability in the Gladelands.

An accomplishment which is an appropriate case study for students of modern finance is the organization, planning and financing of a thirteen million dollar sugar house by 52 contract-growers of sugar cane, through a cooperative.

A companion effort by the Mott interests is the present construction of another equal-capacity sugar house at Canal Point. This U. S. Sugar expansion program is based on experience of thirty years backed by the unwavering belief and the dollars of Mr. C. S. Mott in the practical and economical production of sugar in the Gladelands.

There are tens of thousands of square feet of manufacturing space — concrete and steel — being erected in the Glades today. There are two thirteen-million-dollar plants; one of 70 percent that size and three with 35 percent of the capacity of the larger ones; work on these six sugar-producing organizations vary from preliminary engineering (on two) to foundation work on the largest two, and 50 percent completion of two.

One expansion program is practically completed for an addition of a capacity equal to 20 percent of the largest.

These expansions and additions, when operating, will use near 80,000 acres of land, valued

Winn-Dixie Stores Show 3.81% Increase For 52 Weeks—Ending Sept. 23

Pinkeye Serious Unless Cared For

Veterinarians with the Florida Agricultural Experiment Stations say that pink eye is very widespread during the summer and can cause damage ranging from simple irritation of the eye to permanent blindness.

Symptoms to watch for include watery eyes and swollen eyelids. Later, the eyeball may become clouded, vision impaired, and the sick cattle will show discomfort in sunlight.

There are multiple causes for eye troubles which resemble pinkeye, such as severe infections, growths, Vitamin A deficiency, wind blown dust and foreign matter and chemicals. Veterinarians say it is usually best to have a specialist examine the affected animals and determine which source is causing the pinkeye. Proper treatment can then be started. Treatment varies with the cause.

Cancer Society Grants U Of M Research Funds

To further pursue ways to help control and eventually conquer cancer, the American Cancer Society has issued an institutional cancer grant of $25,000 to the University of Miami.

The grant was awarded in response to a formal application made by Dr. M. Michael Siegel, chairman of the Institutional Research Grant Committee. It is effective from September 1, 1981 through August 31, 1982. The money designated provides to help support qualified cancer investigators and researchers for initiatives of new special studies and for continuation of approved projects. These projects include research in cellular growth, chemistry, bacteriology, surgery, medicine and other related fields concerning cancer.

Institutions participating in grants and awards last year are located in Miami, Tallahassee, Gainesville, Bay Pines and Jacksonville.

Musicians In Air Force Offered Advanced Study

The days of the "Big Band" of the 1940's are no more, some say forever. But until these organizations do return, the opportunities for the young musician are limited — with one exception.

The United States Air Force is seeking bandmen for service in famed USAF Bands throughout the world. Not only does the USAF musician belong to a fine military society, but he is constantly improving his musical abilities and knowledge with one of the "Big Bands" of the United States Air Force.

Members of Air Force Bands are afforded the opportunity to attend specialized courses leading to a degree in music, and selected personnel may attend a Musical Conservatory to obtain their Master's degree.

Members of AF Bands are full-time musicians. Their sole duty is to perform with musical units for the morale and entertainment of other members of the Air Force team and on special occasions, to perform before the general public.

School Drop-Outs May Pay $64,000 Price

(Editor's Note — The U. S. Department of Labor's report on the effects of dropping out of school is the result of a study of 1970-71. We have every reason to think that the study is valid and that the firm determination to get all the education he possibly can.)

"A $64,000 mistake is a big one, and this happens when a teen-ager drops out of school."

Charles N. Conner, Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training regional director and chairman of the U. S. Department of Labor's Regional Staff Committee, gives several points for the nation's youth to note before abandoning the notebook:

1. A high school graduate earns $64,000 more in a lifetime than a grade school graduate and $30,000 more than a high school dropout. A college degree adds $100,000 to his lifetime earnings.

2. Less than half of U. S. employers will consider hiring a dropout. Only workers with the background for training are entrusted with the $12,500 worth of equipment used by the average production worker.

3. Once hired, the dropout is low paid and has little chance for advancement.

4. First to lose his job in a slump, he is subject to recurrent unemployment.

5. Through many are talented, dropouts find it hard without diplomas to qualify for training.

6. Applicants for unskilled jobs are overabundant; there is a shortage of qualified people in technical, scientific, engineering and many clerical fields.

"These trends will increase in the next decade. Skilled, trained and educated workers will be in greater demand; even fewer jobs than now will be available for the unskilled and untrained."

"Stay in school as long as possible; a more satisfying life will be your dividend," Mr. Conner concluded.

Paw-Paws—

Tenderize That Two-Inch Steak; Softens Bile Of Man's Disposition

"Paw-paws" — papaya to the man of "injecting the material book farmer — is often prescribed directly into the animal's blood stream.

An announcement from the University says: "If this finding can be applied with all grades and kinds of cattle, it means that some time in the not too distant future, tenderness may not be a problem with beef cattle," Dr. Cunha states.

Florida chefs of large eating establishments use the "essence" of fruit and/or seed for tenderizing.

Now, Dr. T. J. Cunha, U. of Florida's Animal Department head, comes up with the proposition that papaya is a tenderizer.

"With less emphasis on grain feeding, pasture feeding would become more important. Florida and other southeastern states which can produce abundant pastures would then be able to compete favorably with the Midwest."

One company is already using the process commercially. Meat treated with papain is being sold in the Ocala and Gainesville areas.

Distant relatives are the best kind, and the further the better.

Commissioner Conner Warns Against Screwworms

Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner today issued an urgent plea to all livestock owners in Florida to be particularly watchful during the next 30 to 60 days for any signs of screwworms that might be introduced into the state on animals shipped from Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia.

"We have reports that screwworms are present in four nearby states," Conner said. "These include seven western and south central counties in Tennessee; four northern and northeastern counties in Alabama; one northwestern county in Georgia and in Mississippi bordering the river. It will be thirty to sixty days before we can expect cold weather in those areas to freeze out any screwworms there."

"We receive reports by wire of any livestock shipments to Florida originating in infested areas of the four states," Dr. C. R. Campbell said. "In addition, all truck stop stations in Florida have been alerted to report daily by phone any livestock passing through from those areas. However, it is particularly important that livestock in north and west Florida be inspected as frequently as possible for any signs of screwworms that may have been on animals going to locations north of the truck stop."

Aerial disposal of sterile screwworm flies produced in Texas is continuing at the rate of 500,000 flies per week in the Bonifay area of west Florida, location of the state's most recent outbreak of the pest, Campbell said. No positive cases have been discovered there since June 27.

State and Federal livestock regulatory authorities in Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia are co-operating closely with Florida authorities, Campbell added, in an effort to prevent any possibility of the deadly livestock pest from gaining a foothold here in a sub-tropical climate where it can overwinter and spread north again in the summer.

Livestock owners' costs of fighting screwworms in the Southeast from 1933 and 1938 were estimated at 20 million dollars a year of which the cost in Florida alone was put at 10 million. The State-Federal eradication program of 1958-59, based in central Florida, which rid the Southeastern states of screwworms, totaled more than 7 million dollars.

Oysters showed an increase of $4,072 dollar volume over the month of February, 1980.

China Trip Thrilling USDA Club Told

Mrs. M. Irene Doub reported the highlights of her recent trip to Taiwan to the USDA Club at its first meeting after summer recess, at the Community Center, Canal Point.

"In 1953 some Portuguese sailors saw the island for the first time and exclaimed, 'This is a new world,' meaning the beautiful. That is how it acquired its Western name. Taiwan is off the southern coast of the Chinese mainland, only 225 miles north of the Philippines and 665 miles southwest of Japan. It is about the size of Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island. This small island has a population of over 10,000,000 people. Even though Taiwan was under Japanese occupation for 50 years, it has remained predominantly Chinese. The climate is sub-tropical, with a lot of Cancer passing through the southern part.

Taiwan has been a province of China since 1945 at the close of World War II. It is the largest city, the capital of free China. The people vigorously object to communist rule and are refugees who are fleeing from the communist mainland. All the people share enthusiasm to recover the mainland.

Only the gates remain of the wall which once surrounded the city. On either side of the gates are swarmed with pedicabs. By cycles are the principal means of transportation. There are many points of interest to cover: Sun-moon Lake, a reservoir, with its aqua-color water is smuggled secretly in from mountains. Yangmingshan Park (green mountains) has sea and hot sulphur springs. There are many Buddhist temples, and you will find the large pagoda on the island in Taichung, the provincial capital, even larger than Japan's. In Taiwan, the oldest city, there are the three Pagodas located just in back of the old Buddha temple—300 years old, and the old fort where Koxinga fought the Dutch in 1661. There are many other historical and interesting places, as would be expected in a country so old.

MRS. IRENE DOUB, is shown with a display of gifts and treasures brought back from Taiwan during her stay to conduct a fish feeding course. Above left is color map with illustrations; upper right silk Chinese; foreground two albatrosses, one a gift from the Chinese calculator, fishing boat, photo of buffalo horn, bride doll with bright red dress for luck.

Refrigerators and washing machines are unknown. The women wear their clothes in rivers and irrigation ditches, or in a small pan with the water hand pumped. Radios and electric clubs are enjoyed by most, but there is no television.

Plowing is done with the water buffalo. Due to their over-crowded conditions, farming is done by intercropping. Up to 5 crops may be planted together in one time. One being planted between the rows of another. Rice is the most important crop as the people eat rice three times a day—for breakfast, it is porridge (ground rice with soy bean meal); for lunch and dinner, it is either boiled or fried rice. Many varieties of vegetables and fruits grow in Taiwan.

Sugar is the most valuable export product. About one half of the population is employed in sugar work, either directly in cane growing, sugar mills and refineries or indirectly by working with the by-products, refined pineapple syrup, hog feed and bagasse boards. Sugar cane must be replanted every 15 months to insure a good yield.

Jute is the most important fiber crop. The jute fiber is used for making gunny bags to transport sugar and rice. Pork is the principal meat. Very little beef is raised because there are few beef cattle, and most Chinese refuse to eat the beef. The women usually wear Chinese gowns for dress-up affairs. The clothes are tailor-made, only blouses and skirts and have it only in the money. Women can get a shampoo, massage, and set for about 20¢.

In concluding her talk Mrs. Doub said, "My trip was marvelous and quite unforgettable. I would like to go back some day."

FISHING IN THE Glades

Len Hartman reported two over five feet. For fishermen who are familiar with this water they were reported to be three miles off the shore at the head of the island. Good luck. Oh they were feed-fish on a school of mullet.

Jack Royals of Belle Glade was putting in his winter supply of meat. Just recently he took home a softshell turtle that weighed 31 pounds. Caught it in the Rm Canal, while casting a plug, what next?

Slime Fish Camp
Bill Gamble of Belle Glade had a total of six bass with two over six pounds. They ran from 4 1/2 pounds to 8 1/2. And to top this off two limits were in the string taken by tourists from Van Wert, Ohio. Bob Smith and Larry Plumb.

Big strings of specks are the order of the day with the best string witnessed at Lake Harter, Lake Annabelle where a string of 22 on a stringer that ran to 1 and three-quarters pounds. This is the first Speck string of the season. Slim also reported three good strings of specks to 14 pounds. They are running big this season.

Some interesting reports came in on the Blue Tail Fly on specks. Two fellows were fished them before and one reported his limit while his buddy fell short by two. Bob Campbell and Phillip Erdman were the two lucky fishermen.

This writer has some excellent reports on the Blue Tail Fly in snook and a few good bass bottom bouncing near the locks at Lake Harter. The wife hung a snook in the thirty pound bracket but lost him on a jump as he tore the line. Saturday morning the wife and I took 29 bass of which only seven were kept. They ran from 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 pounds. The bigger bass were caught fishing close to the bottom with the Blue Tail Fly. A new treat in fishing.

Some good catches of bass have been taken on almost red. It seems all types of fishing produced good catches. So this proves that bass are definitely on the move again. Is to get out there and fish for them. Who knows you might end up with a contest entry.

You fishermen who have been waiting for the bass to start feeding after the Sept. 1st will be happy to hear that bass as well as specks and a few jack are feeding. Snook are being taken by those who know how and where to fish for them.

Seems a local poet reported a school of small tarpon off the north end of Cramers Island the other day. After sighting them he circled and flew low to see them better. He estimated six or seven in the group. And

FISHING LINES

How efficient is your casting? Do you know that the right combination of rod, reel, line, and lure will help you cast better? Selecting the right combination of tackle based on your skill and the conditions of the water, the longer cast, greater ease, and more accuracy. When the tackle is right for the angler and the conditions, it is called "balanced tackle."

Cast champion, such as International Champion Johnny Dickman, who can cast on accuracy or distance and sometimes with pinpoint accuracy. He can cast a 10 ounce bass in a tournament depending on the events. For their fly tackle they use a 10 foot rod and line for each rod depending on the purpose of the event.

If you are planning to buy a rod for yourself, keep, wife, or one of the kids, the following points in mind.

A stiff rod is more difficult for the beginner to work efficiently. It requires more coordination and technique. It offers the good caster greater distance with less effort. However, don't be sold on a rod just because it is stiff. The main reason for a choice of a stiff rod is that it is still the prime reason for buying a fishing tackle.

A long cast with light line may be willing to take a broken line. If he isn't, he may compromise the line which comes pre-wound on the reel. For those who like to fish often and in a variety of conditions, an open faced spinning reel offers more versatility but requires more practice to operate efficiently.

You may properly balance your rod and reel by experimentation. Try different weight lines and varied lure until you strike the combination that best for you. When you do—you'll find your new leader, more accurate and—more productive.

Auxiliary Games Party A Success

The large turnout at the Belle Glade Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary Games Party last Friday proved satisfying to those members who had worked so hard to make it a success. Many of those attending agreed a good time was enjoyed in spite of a few disappointing features, but it was Friday the 13th these were overlooked.

To those who were unable to attend and had promised to do so the Auxiliary will gratefully receive their donations even at this late date.

The Auxiliary wish to extend their many thanks to all those who contributed and assisted, especially the following: Mrs. Collins and her staff from the local hospital; The Everglades Federal Savings Bank, (Mr. H. Poston); Sullivan Drug Store, (Mr. Doug Wooten); The Glades Drug Store, (Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey); Agricultural Insecticide Co. (Mr. Barry); Cress' Flower House (Mrs. S. Cress); The Belle Glade Rotary Club (Mr. Lanier, Pres.); Mr. Roadman, Mrs. Stein, and Mrs. Kiehl, also Mrs. Sands at the local Community Center.

Members of the Future Nurses Club under Miss Goodwin ably assisted during the afternoon and to them also go thanks from the Auxiliary.

Have You Given?
The purpose of Life depends on something to live for, some one to help, so the Belle Glade Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary in their effort to reach a goal remind their many friends that:

If nobody gave us a helping hand and no body seemed to care we had to struggle as best we could—

Former Enlisted Men Of US Army Sought For Special Program

Former enlisted members of the Regular Army who have been out of the Army for over 90 days are being sought under a special program announced this week by the Department of the Army.

As an aid to the current military build-up, the new program offers former soldiers who hold certain Military Occupational Specialties (MOS) the opportunity to reenlist in the grade of Sergeant or higher, held at the time of their last separation from active duty. They must have been out of the Army between 90 days and 24 months, otherwise qualified for enlistment, not members of a reserve component and meet the approval of the Department of the Army.

Those men who have been out of the Army between 24 and 36 months may reenlist one grade below that which they held at the time of their last discharge from the Army if they meet the same requirements.

Local Army Recruiters have been provided with complete details of the new program and lists of those Military Occupational Specialties which are urgently needed to increase the Army's strength.

Men who have been separated from the Army for more than 90 days are urged to contact their local Army Recruiters to complete an initial tour of duty. He will rapidly determine those who are qualified for reenlistment under the provisions of this special program.

The Army Recruiter for this area is Sergeant Ron Rosser who can be contacted at 409 South Olive Ave., Main Post Office, West Palm Beach or by calling TE 2-8958.

Fire Prevention Week Program Is Observed Lake Shore Elementary

In our school, fire-prevention instruction is a regular part of our school program for all grades throughout the school year.

In observance of Fire-Prevention Week, the sixth grade classes invited Chief Bair, of the Belle Glade Fire Department to speak to the groups about the various aspects of fire-prevention. Assistant Fire Chief Atkinson accompanied Chief Bair, and discussed their occupations in relation to fires and prevention.

Twenty-nine teachers and eight-hundred five (805) pupils gained new insights into the necessity for extraordinary precautions for public safety, when unusual hazards are involved.

Mrs. A. P. Hill gave important background of Fire Prevention Weeks to grades one and two; Miss B. J. Bush, grades three and four; and Miss B. J. Thompson, grades five and six.

Lake Shore Aerials Win Game

Freshman quarterback James Spencer suddenly has made Lake Shore a powerful football team with his passing.

Rebounding from three defeats in a row, Lake Shore defeated Okeechobee Boys School 33-0 Friday night and it was the air arm which turned the tide.

Traditionally a power-running team over the years, the Bobcats are a more dangerous foe approaching that big October 27, Southeast, showdown with Carver of Delray.

Veteran defensive field general Charlie Johnson, who was sidelined by a leg injury against North Dade, keeps the team together.

Now that Chester Lawrence and Willie Webb are back in the line-up, the passing game has caught fire, particularly the roll-out series of Lake Shore's power sweep patterns.

The scoring was led by Willie Sheed with two touchdowns.
